Central Connecticut State University
1615 Stanley Street, New Britain, CT

November 19, 2011
Alumni Hall

Registration begins 8:30
Workshop 9:00 – 1:00

Our chapter is great because our membership is full of amazing teachers and learners. Come sing, dance, and play with your talented colleagues. Learn something new that they discovered in Pittsburgh or perhaps they'll share a timeless lesson that has been special and successful in their own teaching.

If you are interested in presenting during this workshop, please contact CTAOSA President, Chris Tranberg, at ctranberg@comcast.net.

The Orff-Schulwerk approach encourages students to sing dance and play with a special emphasis on music creativity. The resulting compositions or improvisations are highly sophisticated forms of "knowing in action" that provide ideal opportunities for gauging the richness or depth of a student's musical understanding. This workshop provides models of activities used to elicit students' creative responses as well as procedures that can be used by students and the teacher to help articulate and further develop their own understanding.

- If you do not preregister, please plan to arrive at 8:30, this will facilitate registration and help us begin on time. If you have prepaid for the workshop series, bypass the line and look for the Express Sign-In sheet.
- Verification of attendance forms will be available at the end of the workshop. Remember it is your responsibility to get prior approval from your teaching town for CEU's.

If you have news for the HOT SHEET, please contact Tiger Robison at TigerRobison123@yahoo.com
